For the prevention and cure o
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
AHN's ANTI BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended th a degree of success highly grateful the inventor's feelings in several parts the West Indies and in the Southern l Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person n be adduced, who have reason to be-ve that a timely use of this salutary redy has, under Providence, preserved ir lives when in the most alarming cirnstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak re in favour of a medicine than co-ans of pompous eulogy founded on re assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously prosed as an infallible cure, but the invenhas every possible reason that can ret from extensive experience for be-ving that a dose of these Pills taken ce in every two weeks during the prelence of our bilious fevers, will prove infallible preventive; and further,
t in the earlier stages of those diseases ir use will very generally succeed in storing health, and frequently in cases eemed desperate and beyond the pow-of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly d, so as to be used with safety by per-ns in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry superfluous bile and prevent its morsecretions—to restore and amend the petite—to produce a free perspiration d thereby prevent colds which are of-of fatal consequences. A dose never ls to remove a cold if taken on its first pearance: they are celebrated for re-ving habitual costiveness—sickness at stomach and severe head-ache—and ght to be taken by all persons on a nge of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficious in preventing and curing disorrs attendant on long voyages, and uld be procured and carefully preserv-for use by every seaman.

Fan-Sash Making.

METAL FAN-SASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expence in procuring the necessary preparations, and relies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.

Gentlemen in the country, by sending the dimensions of their sashes, can have them made at the same price as if in town.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

Or a new way of gauging the milk-kettle.

In the court of sessions in this town, a few days ago, an action was brought by a servant against his master, for monies due for wages. The facts were these—The man claimed 10*l*—the master said that only 8 were due, alledging that he had spilled several kettles of milk, for which he must pay. It appeared in evidence, that two or three kettles had been spilled by accident, without any fault on the part of the servant—the court therefore adjudged, that for these he was not accountable—but that he must pay for one kettle which had been spilled through carelessness. A difficulty now arose as to the quantity of milk contained in the kettle. The master (and his wife, who was in court) declared it held two gallons, while the servant insisted it would not hold more than six quarts.—Not having any evidence who could decide this point, the proceedings were at a stand for some minutes, when the master looking significantly at his wife, said, "Peg, suppose I was after telling the gentleman the story about the kettle."—After a little hesitation, Peg replied, "well myself don't care—out wid it."—The master being thus authorized, began. "Plase your honors, last fall some gentlemen came down our way trouting, and axed me if I could sell them some milk—myself said Peg was out milking, and as soon as she came in they could have some. Presently Peg comes in wid the milk, but it was blowing hard, and some leaves blowed into the milk, and when Peg was going to measure it, the gentlemen said it was dirty, (saving your honor's presence)—Peg was vexed, and said it was nothing but clane laves and took some out, but they would not have it; but one of dem, a very funny man sure enough, said if I would take Peg and put her head in the kettle, he would pay for the kettle of milk, and so he put two dollars on the table. Myself looked at the money, and so did Peg. Says I Peg, shall I, and laughed—myself dont care, said Peg, and faix I up with her in my arms, and slipt her head in the kettle, and the gentleman gave us the money sure enough.—We afterwards sold six quarts of milk out of the kettle; and your honors, (saving your presence) knows Peg's head would be as much in the kettle as a gallon of milk, besides all I spilt.

Notwithstanding the master's argument, and as he thought, proof respecting the kettle, he was told that as there was no one present who saw the transaction, what he had now said did not amount to proof.

The servant, who had been listening to the tale, and just noticed the observation of the magistrate, suddenly exclaimed, "by my shoul it is true, myself it was that saw it done, and sould the same milk afterwards." The quantity of milk being thus ascertained, there was no longer a difficulty in giving judgment.

Communicated for the Federal Gazette.

Extract of a letter dated

EDINBURGH, April 15, 1818.

"Public interest in this country, seems at present almost exclusively occupied by the expedition to the North Pole and the probability of its reaching that point. There is an article in the last number of the Quarterly Review which has many mistakes; and one expected in the next number of the Edinburgh Review, from the pen of professor Playfair, which will give every information on the subject; but as you may not see either of these for some time, it may gratify your curiosity to have some particulars concerning it.

The fact is well ascertained that there has been a great destruction of ice in the northern regions within these few years. The unusual quantity off the Banks of Newfoundland, especially last summer, was one evidence of this. The last season several Greenland whalers went as far north as about 80°; towards the north they could perceive only an open sea, and no trace of ice, which could have been discovered at a great distance, by an appearance called ice blink, which is a dim light in the atmosphere over an island of ice. One of these vessels attained the latitude of 81° 14', which is only five hundred and ten miles from the Pole itself.

The objects to be accomplished by this expedition are, 1st. To discover whether there may not be a shorter path to China and India over the pole, than by the present circuitous route. This is probably the principal inducement to government. Another is, the increase of geographical knowledge, and the great assistance which will be given to the resolution of several astronomical problems, by experiments with the pendulum, and others at the pole. A third object is, to ascertain the fate of a Danish colony which existed about 200 years ago on the northern part of the east coast of Greenland, but which, from the immense accumulation of ice on the adjoining seas, has not been heard of since.

The difficulties to be overcome, may be expected to be very great. Besides those which are probable, there are several certain; such as finding the way, &c. Were the compass to point to the pole constantly, it would be easy; but as the expedition must pass near where the magnetic pole probably is, i. e. the northern part of Baffin's Bay, the compass will almost certainly differ very much in its variation, in a short time, and of course no dependence can be placed on it. There will be no rising and setting of the sun to determine the east and west: to ascertain the course, therefore, will be a problem to be resolved in a new manner. It can only be done by having a correct chronometer. Suppose this to be regulated by the time of Greenwich, and the mariner to keep on the meridian of the same place; it is plain that when the clock shows 12 at noon, the sun will be directly south. Should he reach the pole, the same difficulty will arise in finding his way to return. Every object, on whichever hand it lays, will then be south from him; and it is only by the chronometer that he can determine the meredian on which to return home."

Hagerstown, May 26.

DREADFUL HAIL STORM.

On Thursday afternoon last, our town and neighborhood were visited by a most destructive hail storm, from the E. N. E. which continued about twenty minutes, covering the ground to the depth of from one to two inches. The hail stones were general from the size of a large hickory nut to that of a common hulled walnut: some, however, were found after the storm had subsided, which measured five and a half inches in circumference. Though little wind accompanied it, the storm was yet terrible beyond description, owing to the enormous size of the hail and the great quantity that fell, it appearing to descend literally in torrents, perforating the earth in some places to the depth of two inches, and in some instances penetrated the roofs of houses. The damage done in this place and in the neighboring parts of the county from which we have heard, is immense. In the north side and east end of the new Presbyterian church, upwards of hundred and thirty panes of glass were broken; in the front of the Lutheran church about the same quantity; and in private houses an immense quantity has also been destroyed. We have heard of several private houses in the county, in which upwards of one hundred panes of glass has been destroyed. The gardens are literally cut to pieces. The young fruit, such as apples, peaches, cherries, plumbs, &c. has been very much injured; and the rising crops of grain sustained great damage, particularly the rye. We have not yet been able to ascertain the extent of the storm or the width of its range, but have reason to fear they have not been very limited. In the neighborhood of Green Castle, we understand the hail was accompanied by a pretty heavy wind, and that the damage sustained is great. In some parts of this county the hail is said to have fallen to the depth of several inches. Hail stones were seen lying in heaps on Friday. The eldest inhabitants concur in declaring it the most dreadful and destructive storm they ever witnessed.

The books of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Lexington, capital one million dollars, were lately opened at Lexington and the stock promptly taken up.

Alexandria, June 2, 1818.

For the Alexandria Gazette.

Sir—The efforts of criticism, when not intended to operate some particular good, or when the object of animadvertion is known to be incorrigible, are not entitled to public attention. But if a friendly suggestion can enliven theological instruction, give grace and energy to forensic discussion, or confine within proper bounds the daring flights of irregular fancy, no one reflecting on the good it brings ought to feel sorry that it was made, or deprecate the animosity it sometimes creates. In this spirit, I beg you Mr. Editor, to make public a few reflections which forced themselves on my mind, during a short residence in your place. It is not my intention to set up for dictator in taste, and commend a chang in the manner of pulpit delivery; but simply to state what I conceive to be the principles of nature on that subject. My criticism is rather the result of irresitible feeling, than the conclusion of profound and repeated meditation. Nothing struck me more forcibly than the respectable provision which Alexandria has made for the support of the gospel ministry, and the little influence the ministers appear to have upon the moral taste of the town. Eloquence in the pulpit is capable of directing a reading public to almost any end. While I remained with you I heard in polite society no sentiment repeated with pleasure, which had been delivered from the sacred desk. No beautiful picture of elegant piety: No do I believe, in all the sermons I heard, that one example of suffering and triumphant virtue was painted for imitation.

It is not enough to say, that the great author of religion was continually exhibited—we are neither prophets nor founders of sects. The sun shines upon us every day, and surely it is the noblest work of God's visible creation: yet on the brightest morning it excites not the fiftieth part of that curiosity which a meteor would create, as large as a thirty two pounder. The perpetual exhibition has destroyed the effect; and men can be pleased or instructed only by exciting the mind to attention or exertion. Novelty in the manner of inculcating any truth is necessary to produce a powerful continued effect. It appears to me that an unvarying whine, or solemn monotony, is not the most proper of all possible manners, of enunciating the important and interesting truths of religion. Popes' direction, for our moral conduct in general, would, with a little alteration, be an admirable precept for the guidance of those upon whom the task of religious instruction is endowed.

'Follow nature and sing-song habits leave.'

When we hear circumstances narrated which are spoken of merely to make us understand the better a doctrine intended more particularly to be dwelt on, in the same tone, in which we are besought to commiserate calamity, and reprehend treachery, and all the blackest crimes of which human nature is capable, we are forcibly reminded of the mock-argument of the celebrated dean of St. Patrick, in which he undertakes to prove, that Christianity ought not to be abolished—because many would be deprived of a most comfortable place to sleep in. The sublime and spirited composition which the great reformers of religion in England gave the church of that denomination for a morning service, in the mouths of some, instead of rousing devotion, and fixing the attention of the audence upon the great benefactions of God to men, operates like an opiate upon ourselves. Why should an exclamation of joy be uttered in a tone of lamentation? Or a sprightly exhortation, to the performance of the most pleasing of duties, be delivered in a style suitable only for the solemn interment of the dead. It seems to me that morality does not exclusively consist in an uninterrupted lugubriousness of visage and general carriage; or devotion in a multiplicity of genuflection.

Religion is a lively perception of the beauty of moral perfection, and a resolution in the heart consequent thereon, to conform ourselves to the will of God, which is always distinctly known on any particular point, by inquiry, if the action we are about to omit or commit, will make for or against this moral excellence. To sleep in church, when what is said there deserves not to be remembered, is no more sinful in the sight of God, than graceful regularity in motion, when we are inspired by an innocent gaiety of heart. To give arbitrary regulations to ignorance, and to embody a large quantity of stupidity, is not the most acceptable service which his ministers can render to God. The vociferation and cant which we hear from some of the speakers of a numerous set of Christians in this country, will, I fear, triumph over learning, without grace, or nature and solemnity, without utility.

Yours, &c.
PHILO-VIRTUS.

From the Savannah Republican May 22.

One hundred and six of the Georgia troops arrive here yesterday from Fort Gadsden, a small fortification on the Appalachicola river. They have been discharged from service and now on their way home.

On the 1st inst. Arbuthnot and Ambristie, were taken at the capture of fort St. Marks, were tried by a court martial, in pursuance to order from gen. Jackson, of which gen. Gaines was president. Both were condemned to die.—The former was sentenced to be hung—the latter to be shot. They were executed on the 3d inst. agreeably to the mandate to the court. It is said that Ambristie died like a soldier—he was cool and firm to the last moment—Acbuthnot was much agitated, and evinced great fear. A man by the name of Cook, one of the accomplices of Arbuthnot and Ambristie turned evidence against them, and on his testimony they were convicted. The charges and specifications alleged against them were 1st, for supplying the Indians with arms and munitions of war; 2d for stirring them up against the whites; 3d, as spies. Ambristie was a lieutenant in the British army and was an intelligent, fine looking man. Arbuthnot not is an old offender, and has been often advised to desist from exciting the savages against the frontier people of our state. He was the bosom friend of the famous Woodbine.

Extract of a letter from an officer of the U. S. ship Hornet, to his relations in this city, dated Cape Henry, April 26, 1818.

"We arrived here after a passage of 20 days, having had mostly head breezes the whole way—We had a squall or two, but no serious blow. The appearance of the land in approaching Cape Henry, is mountainous in the extreme, as you may suppose from its being seen (on a clear day) at least seventy miles off. We anchored one & a half miles from the beach, directly opposite the town, and went the next day to view the curiosities of the place. We found it to be a most miserable hole, presenting the same appearance as the day after the revolution and massacre of the French. Three-fourths of the houses are in ruins, and the rest inhabited by the most miserable set of beings that can well be conceived of, almost naked, and eating a parcel of roots, &c. which forms their principal food.

In conjunction with the other officers, I was invited to three or four dinner parties, and introduced to several American ladies, and black dukes and counts, &c. some of Christophe's courtiers—a great honor.

We are going from here to-morrow morning for Port au Prince, from thence to Vera Cruz, and then to Copenhagen, when we shall retrace our steps, and return either to New York or Norfolk—most probably the latter. I dare say we shall be back in November or December.

I regret much I did not know we were going to Copenhagen before we set out, as you might have procured me some letters of introduction; however, if the inhabitants there are as hospitable as here, I shall not have much cause to regret the want of them.

The king of Hayti lives about 15 miles from town, in a palace called Sans Souci, on the top of an immense hill—and it is called his strong hold with some reason, as he has three hundred pieces of brass cannon constantly loaded, and also seven years provisions for ten thousand men (the number of his body guard)—add to which, the mountain is inaccessible but from a narrow path, where twenty men with two eighteen pounders, might defend it against one hundred thousand—so that he is in pretty good security, should his subjects ever attempt to rise upon him, which is not at all improbable, as he is the greatest tyrant perhaps on the face of the globe; he is suspicious in the highest degree, as he permits no strangers to see him, nor any of his subjects, even his privy counsellors, without being searched, and being obliged to undergo a great many precautionary examinations.

On our arrival here, we sent on shore to know whether a salute should be returned; the answer was yes. Upon which we fired a salute of 21 guns—which was answered by seventeen. Captain Rea was excessively angry at their impudence, and sent on shore to demand the reason why his salute had not been returned. After an explanation, we fired another salute of twenty-one, which was returned by an equal number."

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eargerly looked for by the scientific world A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phænomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must perose it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavoured to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.

II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.

III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

Subscriptions will be received by

Absconded,

ON the night of the 16th inst. my negro man JOHN, or JOHN ALLEN, (as he calls himself)—he is well known, having lived with me for several years, and has travelled a good deal with me. He is a very plausible fellow, about 30 years of age, slender made, and about 5 feet 5 inches high, rather of a yellow complexion, but the complete negro mouth and nose—has a small scar on one of his cheeks—has lately had a sore on his right leg, directly on the shin bone, which leg has the appearance of being much scored at a former period by disease or the small pox. His hat was made and stamped by Rogers of Baltimore.—A reward of 10 dollars will be given if taken in the town or county of Alexandria, 20 if in the county of Washington or Fairfax, 50 if in Baltimore or state of Maryland, and 100 if in Philadelphia or the state of Pennsylvania, and in like proportion if at any other places, with all reasonable charges for bringing him here and securing him in jail.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE's MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of blood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.
